

AGENTS FOR THE INTELLIGENCER.
WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL, Charleston, S. C.
JOHN T. SLOAN, Jr., Columbia, S. C.
W. H. B. TODD, General Agent.

Our New Dress.

In order to keep pace with the spirit of progress and improvement everywhere visible, the proprietors of the Intelligencer have procured a new outfit of type, and to-day greet their patrons with smiling face and comely exterior. Although considerably improved in outward appearance, all has not yet been accomplished that is intended to place the Intelligencer in the front rank of weekly newspapers. Other means will be resorted to for the advancement of its interests, and it can safely be promised that the watchword of the proprietors will be upward and onward.

To the generous and liberal patronage of the public may be attributed the growing strength and prosperity of this journal, and for the steady and increasing confidence exhibited towards the present proprietors, every effort will be made to show a due appreciation of the good will and friendly regard of their fellow-citizens.

The unusual outlay requisite to procure the new material upon which the paper is now printed renders it necessary that those indebted to this office should make prompt and speedy settlements. Those in arrears for subscription are earnestly invited to discharge their obligations without delay, and all amounts due for advertising and job work during the past year must be settled at once. In this, as in other things, "a word to the wise is sufficient."

BRIEF MENTION.—A thrilling story is published on our first page to-day, copied from the March number of the Old Guard. The scene is laid in Laurens District, and the events narrated are said to have occurred twenty years ago.

The legal fraternity will find some interest in the decisions reported from the Supreme Court of this State, which have been furnished to the Daily Republican, and are published in this issue of our paper.

Until further notice, we will not receive subscribers for Demorest's Magazine, as several remittances to that publication have not been acknowledged.

Our facetious and poetical friend, the bachelor editor of the Abbeville Press and Banner, is referred to Webster's Unabridged for a definition of the word "ominous."

Improvements are going on at every hand, and the appearance of our town is being enhanced by several new buildings. New fencing and fresh painting are contributing no little to the general result, and carpenters and painters are kept busy.

All persons who have signed the paper proposing to organize a Fire Engine Company in this town are requested to meet in the Court House to-night (Thursday) at 8 o'clock.

DISASTROUS FIRE.—A fire broke out in the residence of Capt. JOHN W. DANIELS, on Main street, near the public square, on Thursday afternoon last, at 4 o'clock. The alarm brought together a large number of citizens in the shortest time, and every exertion was at once put forth to save the contents of the burning building, as it was apparent that efforts to extinguish the flames were useless. The fire progressed rapidly, and it was with great difficulty that even a portion of the furniture was saved. It was a large two-story frame building, formerly used as a hotel, and the danger to other buildings was imminent. Hence, the efforts of the crowd were immediately directed to the protection of the residences of Mr. HENRY GARRISON and JOHN WILSON, Esq., on the opposite side of Main street, and we are rejoiced to state that the almost superhuman exertions of active and brave men accomplished this object, and in all probability saved a goodly portion of the town. The residence of Mr. SAMUEL CRAWFORD, a frame building, nearly adjoining Capt. DANIELS' house, was not so fortunate, however, and we regret to chronicle its entire destruction also. A small building, on the corner of the Benson lot, occupied by Mr. THOS. WILDMAN as a Marble establishment, was likewise entirely consumed. The wind was exceedingly high at times during the fire, and changed about in different directions. Under the circumstances, without a fire organization, it seems really wonderful how the progress of the devouring elements was so speedily checked.

The origin of the fire was entirely accidental, and the inmates of Capt. DANIELS' residence were not apprised of it until informed by a colored man who was passing along the street. The loss may be set down as follows: Capt. DANIELS' residence and furniture, $750.00; insured for $400. Mr. CRAWFORD's residence, $300.00, on which there was no insurance. The house occupied by Mr. WILDMAN, and belonging to Mr. J. B. EARLE, $150.00. We are informed that Mr. CRAWFORD saved nearly everything, except the house, while Mr. WILDMAN secured his Marble without any considerable damage. Other parties met with losses from the confusion incident to the removal of their furniture during such a scene of excitement, but only in a few instances from theft, which is common on like occasions.

ANOTHER FIRE.—On Sunday evening last, about dark, the alarm of fire again rung out, and proceeding in the direction indicated, we found the stable of Mr. J. B. CLARK, on McDuffie street, being rapidly consumed by the flames. Prompt measures of precaution were adopted to prevent adjacent buildings from igniting, and in a short time the fire was subdued to an extent that afforded relief to those in probable danger. It is not known how this fire originated, and there are numerous speculations on the subject. We are not inclined to think it the work of an incendiary, after careful inquiry, although this opinion may be erroneous. The loss sustained by Mr. CLARK is inconsiderable.

DAILY SOUTHERN GUARDIAN.—We are gratified to state that this sterling newspaper is now printed with new type, and presents a very handsome appearance. The subscription price has been reduced to six dollars per annum, or three dollars for six months. The tri-weekly issue of the Guardian is only $4 a year. Every number contains a lively and entertaining resume of current news, with spicy editorials and latest telegrams. Subscriptions received at this office.

Result of the Press Conference.

The Conference of the anti-Radical press of this State was held, as agreed upon, in Columbia on Wednesday, 16th instant. From all we can gather, there was unanimity and accord among the gentlemen present, and their action goes forth to the people with united endorsement. The result of the Conference was the introduction of the resolutions hereunto annexed, which were adopted unanimously. As we were unable to be present, and do not know the controlling reason upon which was based the action of the Conference, we deem it improper to criticize its recommendations. We may be permitted to state, however, that our views do not concur in the policy suggested to the people of holding a State Convention as early as the 15th of June, "for the purpose of nominating a State ticket." The time suggested is too soon, in our judgment, and it may be that the end in view—organizing a ticket for State officers—could wisely be dispensed with. Under other circumstances, this feature of the political situation would be discussed at length; but courtesy to our brethren, and lack of information as to the reasons by which they were controlled, demand an exercise of restraint upon our thoughts. As to the declarations made by the Conference, giving full recognition to the legal right of all citizens of the State to suffrage and office, this journal has been fully committed for the past eighteen months. The election of GRANT settled the question of suffrage in this State, at least, and we have not been disposed to revive dead issues at any time. On these points, then, the action of the Conference receives our hearty and unqualified approval. Here are the resolutions:

1. Resolved, That this Conference recognizes the legal right of all of the citizens of the State, irrespective of color, to suffrage.
2. Resolved, That this Conference recognizes the legal right of all of the citizens of the State, irrespective of color or previous condition, to office—subject alone to personal qualification or fitness.
3. Resolved, That in the judgment of this Conference, a convention of the people of the State, opposed to Radicalism and in favor of good and honest government, should be held in the city of Columbia, at some convenient time, for the purpose of nominating a State ticket, which, while assuring equal and exact justice to all, will afford some degree of security, prosperity and good government.
4. Resolved, That this Conference respectfully suggests to the people of the State Wednesday, the 15th June, ensuing, as a suitable time for holding said convention.

THE CONDUCT OF OUR CITIZENS.—It is scarcely possible to award a just meed of praise to those through whose heroic endeavors so much property has been saved and great distress prevented, on the occasion of recent fires. And it is equally impossible to determine whose alacrity and good judgment proved most beneficial. The daring conduct and intrepid action of many persons are the theme of conversation in our community. But we would do violence to our own feelings, and offend the good sense of the white people, did the occasion pass without a frank and cordial acknowledgment of gratitude to the colored people for their zeal and activity during the late fires. Of course, their conduct on Thursday was far more noticeable, as the exigencies were far greater than on Sunday night, but at both places we observed their bearing, and can express the highest encomiums upon their noble efforts in behalf of the sufferers. We know that these efforts are appreciated, and would have the colored population to understand that this is the sentiment of our own race.

DEATH OF JUDGE DAWKINS.—The Columbia Phoenix learns from a private source that Hon. T. N. DAWKINS, of Union, departed this life on last Saturday night. He had been to York, and returned home sick. Judge DAWKINS represented Union for many years in the Legislature, and was regarded as a man of excellent sense and fine attainments. He was afterwards elected Judge, and discharged the duties of that office with ability and fidelity. When the new order of things deprived him of the Judgeship, he resumed the practice of the law, and we presume that it was in the discharge of his duties as an advocate that he fell sick whilst attending Court at Yorkville. Thus has passed away a distinguished Carolinian—one prominent in Union and throughout the State, and a man held in high consideration for his social virtues and estimable qualities, both of head and heart.

ARRESTED.—On Sunday morning last, a man by the name of SMITH, attached to STOWE's circus in the capacity of a driver, was arrested at this place, charged with stealing a fine Photograph Album from the residence of Col. SAM. DONALD, of Donaldsville, on last Friday. He was taken in custody at the instance of Mr. STOWE, who had received the information, and in a short time made his escape, but was afterwards re-captured in the suburbs of town. He is now boarding at MCGUIRE's Hotel, with the walls which he is entirely familiar, as we understand that he was tried and convicted of larceny at this place only a few years ago. He was immediately recognized as the same individual upon his entrance. We are pleased to state that the Album, containing family pictures, was recovered.

STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION.—At the late Conference of the Press in the city of Columbia, it was determined that a permanent association of its members in this State should be formed. The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to report upon this subject to an adjourned meeting, to be held in Columbia on the 15th of June next, viz: C. P. PELLAM, of the Columbia Guardian; J. A. SELBY, of the Columbia Phoenix; A. A. GILBERT, of the Sumter Watchman; and J. A. HOYT, of the Anderson Intelligencer. It is needless to say that this action concurs with the views expressed by this journal, and that we believe it will redound to the good of the fraternity.

ROBBERY.—We have learned with regret that our friend, Col. D. L. DONALD, of Williamston, has recently met with a serious loss by having $350.00 stolen from his store at that place. Information has already reached him, however, that will probably lead to the recovery of a greater portion of the money.

SHIVER'S POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE.—The special and extraordinary announcement of this widely known establishment, recognized as the largest of its kind in Columbia, will be found in our columns to-day. We direct attention to the superior inducements offered by this firm.

—James C. Beaty, a member of the Legislature from Horry county, comes out in a card in the last number of the Horry News, in reply to certain allegations, or insinuations rather, of the Marion Star. Yerger has powerful friends outside, who would never have permitted his execution. His punishment is great, notwithstanding his escape. He gets away with his life, but is an outcast and fugitive forever.

THE JOHNSON TYPE FOUNDRY.—We deem it proper to state that our new type have been procured from this old and reliable establishment, through Messrs. WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL, of Charleston, to whom we are indebted for many courtesies connected with the purchase of this material. The Johnson Foundry, in Philadelphia, was established about seventy-five years ago, and has always been held in high esteem by the craft, but at no time possessing greater facilities or conducted with more regularity than at present, under the management of MACKELLAR, SMITHS & JORDAN, the proprietors. We tender thanks to these gentlemen for a handsome Specimen Book, complete in every respect.

EIGHTH CIRCUIT.—This judicial circuit is now composed of the counties of Anderson, Oconee, Pickens, Greenville and Abbeville, as our readers are aware. For the information of those having legal business in the last named county, we will state that the Act of the Legislature authorizing a transfer of Abbeville to this Circuit shows that the Courts in Abbeville are to be held as follows: The Court of General Sessions on the third Monday of February, June and October, and the Court of Common Pleas on the first Wednesday after the third Monday in February, June and October. Therefore, the next regular term will begin on the third Monday in June next, and will be presided over by Judge ORR.

A SPICY REPLY.—The New York Ledger, of which ROBERT BONNER is the proprietor, recently contained the following squib concerning the A. R. Presbyterian, published at Due West, and edited by Rev. J. I. BONNER:

We religiously refuse to print advertisements for pay in the Ledger, but we publish the following gratuitously:

"Wanted, 500 short, plain articles for the Associate Reformed Presbyterian."

Would it not be as well for our friend and namesake who publishes the Presbyterian to advertise for brains at once, and be done with it; or else write the 500 himself?

To which our clerical friend at Due West makes a spicy reply, as follows:

Does "our friend and namesake," of the New York Ledger, mean to insinuate? We suppose not, as he seems to admit that the editorials himself, which he wants. We accept the compliment, but cannot undertake the labor. If we had the money as "our friend" has, we might do as he does, buy the necessary articles for our paper. But as we have not the money, we have to beg them. In this we do not always succeed, however, any more than we did when we asked our "namesake" of the Ledger for a thousand dollars, to help us finish up and furnish our Female College!

DEATH OF REV. JOHN R. PICKETT.—Our community was saddened on the morning of the 15th, by the announcement that the Rev. John R. Pickett had quietly passed away at daylight of that morning. Though his demise was not unlooked for, as he had been sinking gradually since he returned here in January last, still we could not cease to hug the hope that a reaction might occur, and that he would still be spared for years of happiness and usefulness. It is consolatory to his friends to know that his death was almost entirely free from physical suffering. The calmness with which his unclouded intellect contemplated his approaching dissolution, was one of those sublime triumphs of faith that places beyond a peradventure the truth of revelation. This quiet contemplation of death characterized him even before his end was thought to be imminently near. In January last we met him on the street a few days after his arrival here, and expressed our great pleasure in having him once more among us, and our earnest hope that quiet and rest might soon restore him to something of his wonted vigor. Recognizing the feelings expressed by us, he calmly replied, that "he would be no better, that he had come to go to sleep among us." His language was prophetic, for his passing away, we are informed, was as quiet as an infant's slumber.

The ministry of his own church or of any other, contained no more zealous worker than was Mr. Pickett. He was a bold and original thinker, and was possessed of a bold and original expression that carried his thoughts home to the hearts of his hearers. He was an orator—made by nature and by his consuming zeal in the cause he served. Though a thorough scholar, he sought within himself for the weapons with which he illustrated his power; he did not allow his massive intellect to be curbed or cribbed by the narrow rules of the schools. To do his work to win sinners from the evils of their ways, was the task to which all his great powers were lent. This singleness of purpose made him a powerful preacher. It will be many years before the void his death makes can be filled.

It was his request that he might be buried at Wimborsboro', by the side of the Rev. Hilliard Judge, by whom he was baptized in his infancy. This expressed wish was complied with, and on yesterday, after the impressive funeral services of his church had been held by the Rev. E. J. Meynardie, his remains were placed on the cars to be taken to Wimborsboro' for interment. Mr. Pickett was born on the second day of April, 1814, and was baptized by the Rev. Hilliard Judge in 1817. He was licensed to preach at Gladden's Grove Camp Ground, Sandy River Circuit, October 11th, 1834, and was immediately sent into the itinerancy by his Presiding Elder, Rev. Bond, itinerant, in which sphere of usefulness he continued until his death on the 15th instant.—Chester Reporter.

WASHINGTON, March 21.
The Senate remained in executive session over one hour, confirming General Pleasanton, vice Bailey, as Collector of the Wall Street, New York District, and Joseph P. Bradley, Supreme Judge; after which, several petitions were presented.

A bill was introduced transferring the appointment of revenue supervisors to the President.

A bill for distributing arms or their equivalent in ordnance stores to the Southern States, due from 1861 to 1865, passed.

The Georgia bill was resumed, and no action was taken on Drake's amendment, authorizing the Federal Government to suppress disorders and assess expenses on the people, where they occur. Adjourned.

Governor Holden, of North Carolina, telegraphs the President to suspend the writ of habeas corpus in that State. Holden telegraphs a Senator: "We have Federal troops, but we want money to act. Is it possible that the Government will abandon its loyal people to be whipped and hanged? The habeas corpus should be suspended at once."

The Democrats voted in a body for Bradley to-day—the vote was 42 to 9.

In the House, bills were introduced incorporating the Indian Territory and Gulf Railroad; authorizing water-gauges on the Mississippi River and its tributaries to protect alluvial lands and improve navigation. It provides for a regular system of observations; also to promote commerce and amity between Mexico and the United States, by encouraging the citizens of the United States to aid Mexico in developing that country.

A resolution was introduced that the South and West were entitled to more circulation. The House refused to second, and the question was referred to the Banking and Currency Committee.

The rules were suspended and the bill appropriating $20,000 to the Sisters of Mercy, of Charleston, to re-build their Orphan Asylum, was passed.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.—At the celebration of St. Patrick's Day by the Hibernian Society of Charleston, on Thursday last, W. E. MIKELL, Esq., responded to the toast—"South Carolina." He is reported to have used the following language, which does great credit to the head and heart of our worthy friend. Such men will redeem the old State, because they will work for her true interests in the present and future, as they have illustrated the past by their valor and devotion:

After the band had discoursed "Dixie," Mr. Wm. E. Mikell responded to the toast. He called attention to the present and future of the State. He said that the past of the State was all that gave her honor and reputation in the history of the world, but the present is before us, and out of it comes the future; that future which we have in our power to make equal to the past. He believed that the time had come when the honor of the State must be upheld by other names than those of the past. Let the dead past bury its dead. We have the opportunity of showing to the world what unconquered people can do to maintain the independence achieved by our forefathers. We must meet the questions of the day fairly. We must recognize facts as they are. First, let us place the emine upon the shoulders of men who will not be deterred by the popular clamor. We must trust leaders who are recommended by their trustworthiness, and not those who depend solely upon their names. We have those among us. Let us choose them, and under their leadership we will triumph. He advised that the white and colored citizens unite for the common good, and he believed that there was hope for the State, politically and financially, and if united together, hand and soul, we will yet win back our past prosperity. Therefore, he repeated, "Let the dead past bury the dead." Act in the living present, heart within and God overhead.

Wilcox, Gibbs & Co.'s Manipulated Guano equal to any used.

I have used this year Peruvian Guano and Plaster, and with and without dissolved bones, Soluble Pacific, and Wilcox, Gibbs & Co.'s Manipulated Guano, noting the places upon which each was used. I can see very little, if any, difference, but am satisfied that the Wilcox, Gibbs & Co.'s Manipulated is equal to any I have used, according to the cost.

Extraordinary Announcement.—Read this through Carefully and Profit by It.

DATING from the 15th of the month, now past, we offer, as before announced, some of the most magnificent and attractive BARGAINS ever offered in DRY GOODS. The prices are alarmingly low, and some of our lady customers have expressed great regret at our selling the Goods so cheap, lest we break. We inaugurated these low prices for goods in January here, with our French MERINOS and PLAIDS, at once showing the people that when we advertised cheap goods we meant cheap goods; and we intend following the cheap goods policy right through the Summer, and we say write it down as loud as pen and ink can write it, that we are offering bargains not to be met with once in a natural life-time.

We shall attend to orders with the same care as if the parties ordering were present, and we advise all who see the advertisement, to order direct from us or send for samples, which we shall take pleasure in sending. In ordering, give colors and prices, and leave the selection of the goods to us, and we guarantee satisfaction or take the goods back.

In advertising it has never been the habit of this section to assign real reasons for reduced prices, but we beg to deviate, and say that the following are our reasons:

1st. We are more or less interested in about $100,000 worth of Dry Goods in this vicinity.

2d. The decline on Dry Goods is fearful to contemplate.

3d. We are going to realize on ours.

4th. We want money, and do not want to borrow, and the only way to get it is to sell something.

If these reasons are not satisfactory, just call on us and we will give you solid proof of what we say. If you see any startlingly cheap goods bought by your friend or neighbor, do not despair of getting some of them, too, by reason of their being sold out, but come right along and you will find them, or some cheaper, as there are plenty where these are from.
